

Statement from Tabcorp

Tabcorp is bound by privacy and confidentiality considerations which make it inappropriate for us to comment on a customer's individual betting activity.

More broadly, Tabcorp has systems in place to monitor betting activity and acts where necessary to prevent misuse of our systems and products.

Tabcorp is subject to a range of reporting and other obligations overseen by various regulators including AUSTRAC and complies with these obligations, as well as maintaining comprehensive compliance and AML/CTF programs.

Tabcorp employees are subject to strict obligations with regard to customer information and confidentiality. These obligations extend beyond an employee's employment with us. Employees are reminded of this on departure and any potential breach is taken very seriously.
